The Class of February

IN the Corcoran Gallery of Art stands a famous statue bearing the title "At the End of the Trail." It depicts the conclusion of an Indian's long journey. The piece of sculpture suggests the situation of our graduating class. It, too, has come to the end of the trail, for it can go no farther here at Business.

How different things are from what they were in those days when as Freshmen we aspired to be Seniors. Memories bring to our minds the high lights of our high school career, but none will remain more vivid and dear than those of our senior year. Wherever time finds us, we shall always be mindful of the friendships we formed with the faculty and student body within the walls of Business High School.

Class Poem

So slowly we have labored here
In the rays of the shining sun,
From rooky days—so sad and hard—
To seniors, full of fun.
We've worked, we've toiled, but not in vain:
For our goal that looked so high
We've safely cherished to the end;
And we leave tonight with a sigh.

Dear Business, we are leaving,
But in whatever course we pursue,
We'll never forget the ideals you've taught,
And our success we shall owe to you.
We've counted, we've measured each step of the way,
Gladly fighting and paying the toll,
As we travelled the path to honor and fame,
And now we have reached our goal.

The memories of these four short years,
When we've grown old and hoary,
Will still be cherished in our hearts,
Ever leading us on to glory.
Our class-day meetings we'll recall,
And your faces we shall see,
But we'll always hope that we may come
Again, and be with thee.

Our goal we've won—our ship is set
To sail on the sea of life;
But if we fly the Business flag
We shall always win the strife.
We'll proudly return on the winning side
And the victory credit to you.
For the many examples that have been set,
Our highest tribute is due.

The February Class of Twenty-six
Bids you a sad farewell.
But to meet misfortune with a smile
Is a story it's glad to tell.
And as we leave this hall tonight
With many a parting sigh,
We go to take our place in the world;
So farewell, Business High.

KATHRYN COMPTON.

The Class of June

HE time has now arrived when we of the June Graduating Class of 1926 must bid farewell to Business. From a class originally of over one hundred and fifty, we have dwindled to a small but powerful body of young men and women, ready, with the help that has been given to us in our four years' stay at Business, to meet that world for which we have been training.

When the night of June 18, 1926, has gone its way, our duty to Business, as students, will have been over, but as members of the Alumni Association we hope to be able to assist the school in every way possible.

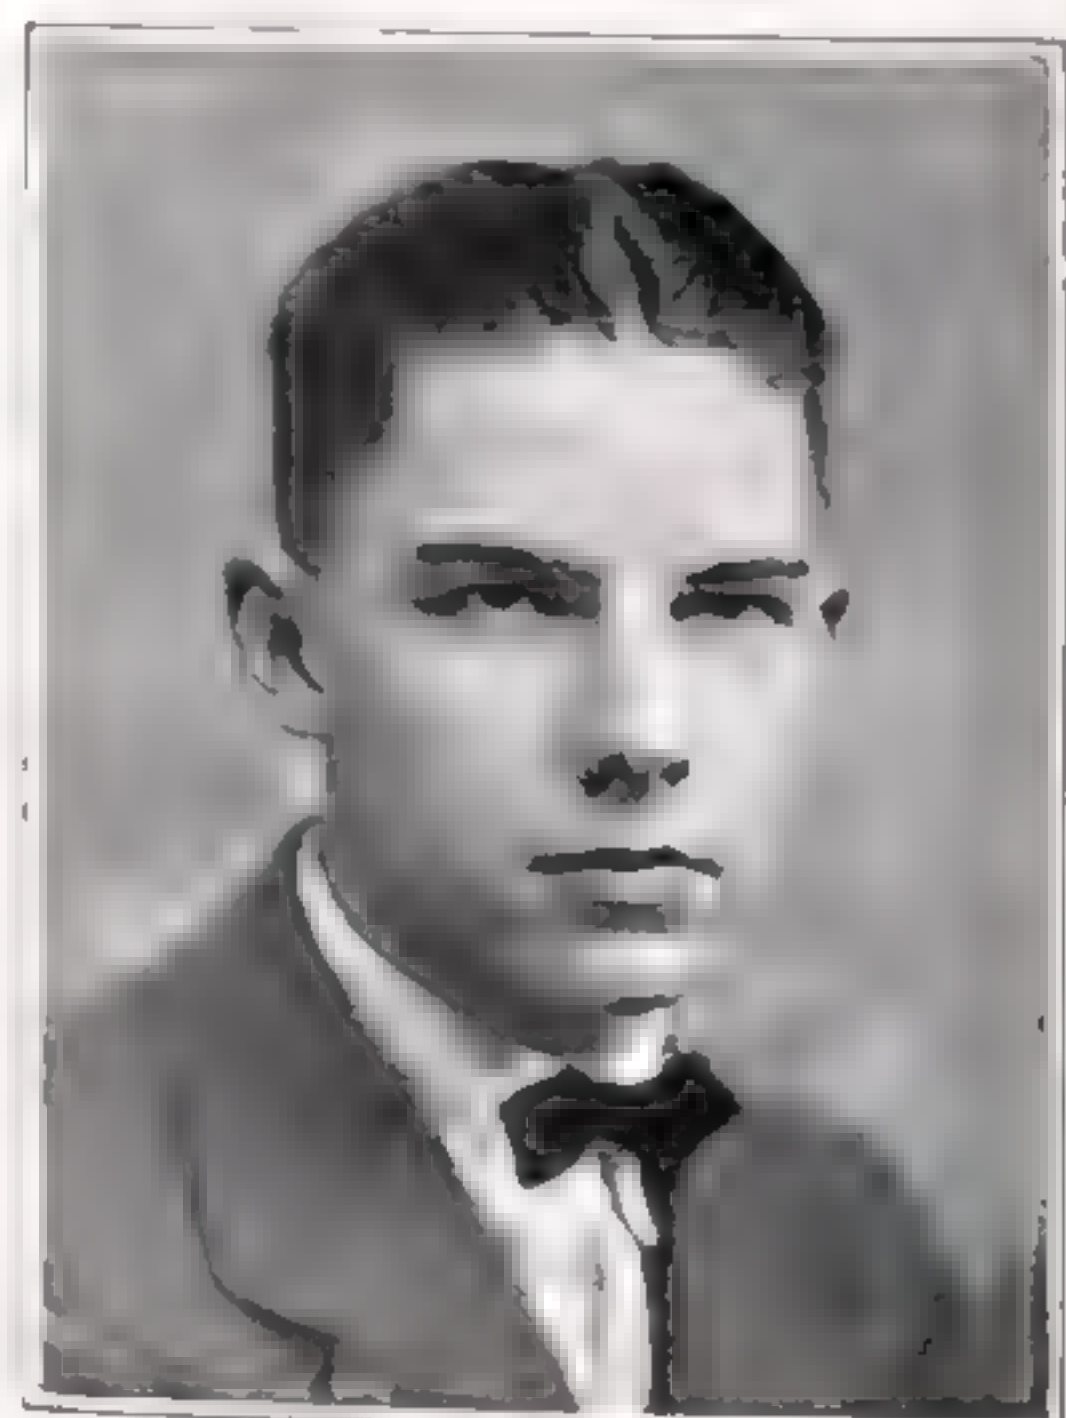

The members of the Faculty have our heartiest thanks for the splendid assistance which they have so efficiently given us.

We, having resolved to cherish the memory of our Alma Mater, bid farewell to the members of the Faculty and to our many friends among the undergraduates.

Bits from the Diary of the Class of June 1926

SEPTEMBER 21, 1925—Back to school again. What a funny sensation when we realize that this is our last year at Business. We can now assume that proud, haughty, superior attitude of the Senior. Many of our teachers of last year have left. We find new members of the Faculty, too. The rookies are about two inches shorter than last year.

NOVEMBER 6, 1925—Nearly two months since school opened. Our Senior attitude hasn't "gone over so big." Today when the Alumni Association gave an assembly to advertise its fifth annual vaudeville show, we realized that the members of this esteemed organization are the only privileged characters at Business High School.

NOVEMBER 13, 1925—We are being absolutely ignored. Slowly our pride is being bruised. The Senior Class of February, 1926, is electing its officers today. They are in the limelight, and we are in obscurity.

NOVEMBER 15, 1925—Now the faculty and student body may regret their cool indifference to our rather exalted station. We are electing our temporary class officers today.

JANUARY 29, 1926—The school term is nearly half over. We recall the stirring Cadet Rally and the equally stirring Athletic Assembly celebrating our basketball victory over Western, 21-18. We note the birth of the B. H. S. Band, and that dramatic art which Mrs. Mace so ably promoted thrives under the tender care of Miss Galbraith.

The Award Assembly, Senior Day, the dances given by the Amikeco Club, the "B" Club and the Seventh Semester seem all to have so quickly passed after much anticipation. Today is Commencement Day for the Class of February.

APRIL 1, 1926—For two months we have been full fledged, eighth semester Seniors. The launching of the National Oratorical Contest has brought to us fantastic pictures of a European tour. Our class has organized and elected officers. We have adopted the disarmament spirit, turning our rifle range into a cafeteria. The Spring Play now brings us memories of Higbie's pet fruit tree. Today we leave school for the Easter vacation.

JUNE 23, 1926—We have had more strange thrills during the last two months than in any other time in our young lives. That last hard cramming session trying to become eligible for graduation wasn't exactly a thrill, but when we learned that we had made the grade "what a grand and glorious feeling." Then there was "Senior Day." We never knew we could get such a kick out of running a show. We felt a little more sedate during the Award Assembly. Then time just seemed to skip by until Class Night. Of course, we had just a wonderful time, but what a fashion show! But the greatest of all these thrills was the sensation we experienced when we smiled sweetly and took the old sheepskin. It is a time that we shall always remember with laughter and tears—our Graduation from old Business High School.

The Certificate Class of February

THE Class of February, 1926 will never forget the school that it loves. In February, 1924, the usual thing happened. We, a bunch of rookies, entered Business' Hall of Fame, looked at this, touched that, admired the simplicity of the building, and finally settled down. Then things began to happen. That class did things to be proud of. It joined the Girls' Auxiliary, the Glee Club, the Daniel Webster Club, the Amikeco Club and the Cadets. There was not one activity that did not include members of the Class of February, 1926.

Now that the time has come for us to receive the hard-earned certificates of which we are so proud, we are sorry to leave our friends and the school that means so much to us and has helped us lay a firm foundation for our life in the world. The good old "Business Spirit" will always remain with us to urge us onward to our desired goal.

The Certificate Class of June

WHO gathered in the halls of Business High School and "shook in their boots" when their principal and benefactor, Mr. Allan Davis, told them to go into the gymnasium that momentous day in September of the year 1924? We did, of course, the two-year graduating class of 1926. We were but puppies then, astonished and frightened at the bark of our older brothers, the Juniors and Seniors; but our fright was short-lived, because we soon found out that their bark was worse than their bite.

The boys of this class were the nucleus of the Business High School Cadet Battalion; the girls, the backbone of the school's activities.

The social errors of this class with respect to upper classmen were few and far between.

Today we have reached the second rung in our ladder to success. One hundred and fifteen strong we leave our dear old Alma Mater to take our appointed place in the great world of business.

The teachers that taught us and prepared us for this day are not only teachers but friends—staunch friends, who have helped us in every possible way.

Some of the above one hundred and fifteen will return to finish a four-year course and uphold the traditions started by the Freshman of '24.

Though we may leave Washington, deep down in the hearts of all of us there will be a tender spot for Business High School.

Cadets

THE old jingle which starts bravely to describe the adventures of the ten, and concludes with the sad words, "And then there were none," cannot be applied to our cadets. Let it read thus:
September, 1924.

*One little cadet company, a little one 'tis true,
Just swelled and swelled until it burst, and then there were two.*

*But two big cadet companies, young I and older E,
Found men enough to build up L; so then there were three.*

*And three fine cadet companies, in pressing to the fore
Had men to spare, so M was formed, and now we have four.*
June, 1926.

M, I, L, E. What a start on the road to success! Vision, vigor, inspiration, yes, perspiration, too, have brought us to an enviable place, for a larger proportion of our boys are working for the brigade banner than can be found in any other school. Tireless work on the part of the Military Committee, the fine response of the boys, and the support of the whole school have brought this about.

During the year the cadets have sponsored one of the most enjoyable dances of the season. On other occasions they have enjoyed the hospitality of the Girls' Auxiliary. That they appreciate the work of the girls has been shown by their efforts to win the school cadet banner that the Auxiliary has provided. L and E have been the victorious companies thus far.

The spirit of the boys is largely reflected in the work of Lieutenant Kaufman. A medal man from the first, he has thrown himself vigorously into all that makes for the good of the organization. The band owes much to him, while the problem of uniforms has been solved largely through his enterprise.

The cadets are and have been active in other school affairs. In the orchestra are Major Foreman, Corporal Rosenblot, Sergeant Russ, a member of the regimental band, our drummer Noyes, and the xylophone artist, Corporal Goldstein. In fact, nearly every member of the orchestra can handle a gun. Our comedians, Captain Kluft and "Reds" Cohen and that clever dancer, McIntyre, have made merry on many occasions. Captain Walters is an athlete of no mean ability, while banking and book selling occupy Major Foreman, Sergeant Brown and Lieutenant Harvey. And the rank and file are to be found in these and other fields.

Last summer many of the cadets attended the C. M. T. C., McGarraghy, Hower, Ferguson, Simmers and Wetmore being among the number. Others are enlisting this year, while there are some who are looking forward to the time when they will be old enough to go.

At the cadet supper this year we may expect a rousing time, for whatever the outcome of the drill may be, we know that our boys will "carry on" in the same spirit that has brought them to the place they now have.

Four six-squad companies—for that let us strive;

But when we have reached that goal, then why not have five?

THE year 1925-26 has fostered some of the most noteworthy and most attractive issues of the official organ of the student body, The Balance Sheet. Under a competent staff and able faculty supervision, it has served well its purpose as an incentive to youthful literary efforts, as a record of student activity, as an aid to develop a spirit of loyalty to our school, and as a link between the Alumni and their Alma Mater. The graduating members of the staff take this opportunity to express their trust that the future issues of the publication will be worthy of the name, Balance Sheet.

Boys' Athletics

WEEK after school opened about thirty-five strong, healthy, willing and hard-working boys answered the call of the first football practice of the year. These boys, after some ten days of strenuous practice, engaged in their first game, meeting Mt. St. Joseph at Baltimore, where they were easily defeated by a much heavier and more experienced team. But the boys were not discouraged, and they started the inter-scholastic season by holding the strong Tech High School eleven to the score of 14-0. They next encountered Eastern, who was conceded an even chance to defeat Central. For the first half the boys struggled and fought bitterly to hold a 6-0 lead at the end of the first half. Our blond headed hero, Hank Davis, made this possible by intercepting an Eastern pass and running 60 yards for a touchdown. This lead was very short-lived, for the much heavier Eastern team soon took advantage of the lighter team and scored a 13-6 victory, after a bitter fight.

The following week Central was met and the team was handed a 26-0 beating, although the game was closer than the score indicates. Our last game ended in a victory for Western by a score of 14-0. It was not an altogether successful season so far as games won are concerned, but with a team fighting against such odds, it was a very good showing.

Then came basketball. Now we have a more interesting tale. The season of 1925-1926 was one of the most successful seasons enjoyed by a Business High team in late years. Besides finishing third in the inter-scholastic series, it also won a majority of its outside games. The team also enjoyed the distinction of going on one of the longest trips ever undertaken by any of the local high schools. The first trip took the boys into the Southland for two engagements, the first one with the Staunton Military Academy at Staunton, Virginia, and the second with the Greenbrier Military Academy at Lewisburg, West Virginia. The boys were defeated in both games, but they had a very pleasant and interesting trip.

The next trip the team went north, playing at Reading, Pennsylvania, and Camden, New Jersey. They were again defeated in both games, but had a very pleasant trip. These trips were made possible by the untiring efforts of our coach, Mr. Woodworth, and our capable manager, Joe Katzman. The following members of the team made the trip: Coach Woodworth, Manager Katzman, Captain Charlie May, Country Evans, Berny Jones, Tony Stewart, Jimmy Artis, and Bob Ferguson.

As this goes to press our baseball team has yet to play a game in the school series, but it is confident of a successful season due to the efforts of Captain Yaffy, who has charge of the team during Coach Woodworth's absence, and the wealth of veteran material on hand.

Girls' Athletics

HE athletic activities of the girls this year were marked by competitions in basketball and baseball.

The candidates for basketball came out for practice twice a week, from the first of November until the first of February. Captains and managers for the teams were elected about the middle of January.

They were the following:

Semester	Captain	Manager
8	Lillian Baker	Elsie Mandley
7	Catherine Green	Isabelle Heffner
6	Anna Sherman	Evelyn Riley
5	Vea Wimes	Bessie Kaminsky
4	Claire Alderton	Adelaide Pendleton
2	Mary McQueen	Mary Garland

Each team played every other team, and there was keen competition among the semesters to see which one was to have the championship team. The fourth semester team was awarded the coveted banner, for, under the capable leadership of Claire Alderton, it won every game it played.

At the end of the season the scores were as follows:

Semester	Won	Lost	Percent
4	5	0	1000
7	4	1	800
8	2	3	400
6	2	3	400
2	2	3	400
5	0	5	000

The girls came out just as faithfully for baseball as they had for basketball, practicing every Monday and Thursday. The semester games started on March 1, each semester except the first being represented by a team.

The fourth and fifth semesters were combined into one team, as there were not enough girls from either to form a separate team.

The captains and managers were as follows:

Semester	Captain	Manager
8	Lillian Baker	Evelyn de Zychlinska
7	Thelma Wallace	Naomi Connick
6	Jennie Blockson	Daisy Newkirk
4&5	Claire Alderton	Rose Weinstein
3	Rose Brill	Clara Belle Sparks
2	Rose Garland	Mary McQueen

The third semester team, who last year as a second semester team won the championship, was the victor again this year.

It won every game it played and so closed the season with an average of 1000%.

Some of the most exciting games of the season were those in which the eighth semester played the fourth and fifth and the fourth and fifth semesters played the third.
